10:30-10:35 am Pay-it Forward Award Winners Stephanie Cedeno

YMCA of Central Ohio-The West Central preschool location hosted a Cinco de Mayo brunch for children and families. The YMCA used the Healthy Gathering Scorecard to plan their build your own breakfast burrito. Families created their own breakfast burritos from options such as grilled onions and peppers, turkey sausage, black beans, and Greek yogurt. Activities at the event included a physical activity break as well as matching food to the MyPlate.

10:35am – 10:50am YMCA Family Style Meals

Jessica Rizzonelli and Stephanie Cedeno
The YMCA Head Start centers have recently switched over to serving family style meals with the help of their vendor, Himes Vending. Currently, the YMCA centers are providing lunch family style but plan to serve breakfast and snack family style as well.

All three of the YMCA Head Start centers have kitchens on site; however, the kitchens are not commercial grade. This means that the kitchens cannot be used to prepare food or clean dishes. Jessica and Stephanie worked with the vendor closely to determine the best way to incorporate family style.

Himes delivers the meals in large disposable sheet pans. Once the food has arrived at the child care center, teachers spoon the food into smaller bowls. Smaller bowls and utensils are distributed to each dining table at the center. Himes provides plastic trays to serve as plates for the children. After the meal, the small bowls and utensils are rinsed off and placed in a carrier. The next day, Himes collects the used bowls and utensils to be cleaned and returns the equipment to the center the following day. Multiple tongs, bowls, scoops, and spoons were purchased to keep as backup.

Education was a big piece of the puzzle. Jessica trained all YMCA Head Start staff about family style. Some teachers in attendance had already used family style and shared their experience with it. In addition, Stephanie worked with Himes to create a guide on which utensils to use with certain foods. These guides are posted in each classroom.

Family style serving can aid in a picky eater feeling more comfortable to try new foods, give the kids more control over what and how much they want to eat, develop gross motor skills, and promote socialization. YMCA staff says that the food tastes better and has started to use family style dining at home with their children.

Implementing family style dining with the YMCA took some time. Stephanie and Jessica worked to get Himes Vending on board and to see the benefits. They found that their vendor was very business minded and was focused more on the cost and time it would take rather than the benefits. After some education and lots of discussions, Himes and the YMCA have successfully implemented family style. Some teachers had reservations with family style dining. Teachers were worried about the mess and how kids would adapt. However, kids observed each other and caught on quickly. Teachers state that family style is not as messy as they expected. Family style can be challenging when classrooms are short staffed, but the older children are quick to assist.

The YMCA plans to write family style dining into their contract in the future.

Updated Nutrition Facts Label

New to the Nutrition Facts label will include "added sugars," along with a corresponding 10 percent-Daily Value—representing a limit of 50 grams (roughly 12 teaspoons) of added sugar towards the daily 2,000 calories recommended for most adults.

Other changes include:

- 1. New design to highlight calories and servings
- 2. Dual column to indicate both per serving and per package calorie and nutrition information
- 3. Upper limit of sodium will be decreased from 2400 to 2300
- 4. Declaration of potassium and Vitamin D will now be required
- 5. Vitamins A and C will now be voluntary

New labels are required by July 26, 2018

New York City Can Now Enforce Sodium on Menus

On May 26, 2016, A New York appeals court lifted the temporary halt order, allowing New York City health officials to start enforcing the rule on salt warnings.

Under the requirement, which only applies to restaurants that have 15 or more locations around the country, warnings in the shape of a salt shaker must be placed next to any menu item with more than 2,300 milligrams of sodium. That's the equivalent to a teaspoon of salt and the daily limit suggested by the federal government. The city said it would begin enforcing the rule – and slapping $200 penalties on violators – on June 6.

Stockton, CA Passes 'Healthy-by-Default' Kids' Meal Beverage

On June 8th, the city of Stockton, California passed an ordinance requiring either water or milk to be served as the default beverage in children's meals. This is the second law of its kind adopted by an American city, following the city of Davis, California. The so-called "healthy-by-default" rule—passed unanimously by the Stockton City Council —aims to impact the city's skyrocketing childhood obesity rate and worsening type 2 diabetes epidemic. The ordinance will go into effect July 8, 2016.

Philadelphia Passes Sugary Drink Tax

New Philadelphia tax of 1.5 cents per ounce on sugar sweetened beverages will be used to fund programs such as citywide pre-K education. The tax, passed by the City Council with a 13-4 vote, will take effect Jan. 1, 2017.

11:00am – 11:30am Artificial Sweeteners: Parts 2

Ali Segna and Carol Smathers

Part 2 discussed the downgrade of Sucralose by CSPI from 'caution' to 'avoid', the GRAS approval process which includes stevia and monk fruit, and the latest research in disease association, weight loss, pregnancy and lactation, and current recommendations for young children. The full presentation can be viewed in the 2016_06_28_GHKC Meeting Presentation.

Question asked: What sugars would be best, if any (i.e. agave, honey, maple syrup)?

Homework: Please review the scorecards and bring suggested edits to the next meeting.

Next Meeting: July 26, 2016, 10:00am-11:30am Columbus Public Health, Auditorium
